MESSAGE FROM THE DEAN

As Dean of UC Davis School of Law, I have the distinct privilege of welcoming you to one of the world's leading law schools. We are extremely proud of the excellent record of scholarship, teaching, and service we have achieved since our founding more than 40 years ago, and we are extremely pleased you are considering joining the King Hall community. Please explore this booklet, log on to our web site (www.law.ucdavis.edu), and visit us in person to discover the many ways in which we can help you realize your dreams of a career in law.

At UC Davis, our outstanding ranking, small size, and unusually accessible and dedicated faculty of internationally renowned scholars provide a uniquely supportive learning environment. There is really no other law school like it in the United States! Each of our faculty members is truly committed to teaching, and together they offer a challenging academic program with diverse specialties including, but not limited to, business law, environmental law, international and comparative law, intellectual property, immigration law, constitutional law, and public interest law.

UC Davis School of Law moved up to 28th in the latest U.S. News & World Report ranking of almost 200 American Bar Association-approved law schools, and University of Chicago professor Brian Leiter rates our faculty quality even higher at No. 23. It is exciting to see our high and rapidly rising status among the nation's very best law schools.

King Hall's award-winning trial and appellate advocacy programs, clinics, and externships enable students to earn academic credits while gaining first-hand exposure to legal professionals and institutions, honing practical lawyering skills, and contributing to the greater good. The Immigration Law Clinic, Family Protection and Legal Assistance Clinic, Civil Rights Clinic, and Prison Law Clinic, all directed by staff attorneys at the top of their fields, allow students to represent real people with real problems before real courts and agencies.

At King Hall, you will find a vibrant and diverse student community with more than 40 active student organizations, five student-run law journals, and an academic spirit where intellectual rigor combines with genuine warmth and community of purpose. We have an atmosphere of cooperation unparalleled by any other law school.

Supporting our students' academic and career goals is and will remain the highest priority at UC Davis School of Law. Our success can be seen in the extraordinary achievements of our graduates in bar passage rates, job placement, and challenging and rewarding careers in cities across the United States. Our Office of Career Services has successfully connected our graduates with leading employers from Washington, D.C. to San Francisco, from Chicago to Atlanta.

As the beneficiary of a public university education, I personally know just how important it is that UC Davis School of Law maintain a public legal education that is of the highest quality and accessible to students of all socioeconomic backgrounds. We are dedicated to upholding these ideals, and we consistently enroll one of the most diverse student bodies in the United States.

On behalf of our faculty, students, staff, and alumni, I invite you to seriously consider the study of law at King Hall. If you come here, you will never regret the decision. I promise.

WHY CHOOSE UC DAVIS SCHOOL OF LAW?

“ Talking with a King Hall alum made it clear to me how warm a place the school was. The person who called me talked fondly of the school, the connections with faculty, and the many friends he made over his three years at King Hall. The idea that a law school could be a community, more than just a means to an end and a degree, was really encouraging to me. This sense of community played a big role in convincing me that King Hall was the right place for me. ”

ACADEMIC SUCCESS PROGRAM

The faculty, staff, alumni and student colleagues at UC Davis are dedicated to helping every student reach a personal level of success in law school and in the practice of law.

PRACTICAL SKILLS FOR LEGAL PROFESSIONALS

At UC Davis School of Law, students enjoy not only outstanding academic training in classrooms and seminars, but also the opportunity to hone practical skills. Students can write for one of five student-run journals, advocate for clients in our four clinics, work in our externship program, and participate in Moot Court and Appellate Advocacy competitions. King Hall students learn beyond the classroom in ways that help them succeed in the job market, in their careers, and in court.

JOURNALS

With five student-run journals, UC Davis School of Law offers multiple opportunities for students to hone their writing and editing skills.

UC DAVIS LAW REVIEW

One of the nation's most respected legal journals, the UC Davis Law Review publishes scholarly articles from legal academics, practitioners, and our own student editors.

BUSINESS LAW JOURNAL

The Business Law Journal is run by dedicated law students who are committed to providing current and valuable legal and business analysis.

ENVIRONS LAW AND POLICY JOURNAL

CLINICAL LEGAL EDUCATION PROGRAMS

At UC Davis School of Law, we take pride in the unique array of clinical experiences available to every student. Our in-house Clinical Programs include specialized work in civil rights, family law and domestic violence, prisoners' rights, and immigration law. Our fully supervised externship programs allow students to earn academic credit for work in environmental law, poverty law, human rights, criminal defense and prosecution, labor law, tax law, and juvenile law, and with state and federal judges. Because of our proximity to Sacramento, the California state capital, students interested in the political process are able to work with legislators, legislative committees, the governor's office, or lobbyists.

Our students, under the mentorship of talented faculty experts, develop a keen awareness of their own unique skills and passions as lawyers. Clinics, operated in a collaborative trial team setting, allow students to work alongside veteran faculty and attorneys and learn invaluable skills as they help those most in need.

CIVIL RIGHTS CLINIC

The Civil Rights Clinic is a litigation clinic in which students advocate for the civil rights of prisoners and other indigents. In a typical semester, students may do client intakes, meet with clients, draft interrogatories, conference with federal judges and opposing counsel, take depositions, draft and file pleadings, interview witnesses, and research legal issues.

FAMILY PROTECTION AND LEGAL ASSISTANCE CLINIC

The Family Protection and Legal Assistance Clinic provides students with the opportunity to represent domestic violence victims who would not otherwise be able to afford an attorney. It is the Law School's only community-based clinic and serves a vastly underrepresented population. The program contains three components: student education, direct client representation, and community education.

IMMIGRATION LAW CLINIC

The Immigration Law Clinic provides an invaluable service to Northern California's immigrant communities, offering education and free legal services to low-income immigrants facing deportation while enabling King Hall students to gain practical, real-world experience. Through the clinic, students provide advice and counsel on a range of immigration questions for clients who otherwise could not afford legal counsel. In doing so, students gain a better understanding of the daily problems, legal and otherwise, of poor and working-class immigrants. Students working on behalf of the Immigration Law Clinic have made oral arguments to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit – an experience many attorneys would envy.

PRISON LAW CLINIC

Students working in the Prison Law Clinic use their legal skills to assist prisoners. Students advocate on their clients' behalf with officials at the institution where the prisoner is housed, as well as by filing formal grievances with the California Department of Corrections. Cases may involve just about any aspect of an inmate's life in prison.

WHY CHOOSE UC DAVIS SCHOOL OF LAW?

“ I couldn't have picked a better law school. King Hall offers a well-rounded experience where you're going to get the highest quality classroom education, but also hands-on experience through the clinics. If you're interested in public interest law or public policy work, it would be hard to imagine a better place to study than King Hall. ”

EXTERNSHIPS

King Hall students have the opportunity to acquire additional skills and training working with government agencies, public interest organizations, nonprofits, and public defenders' and prosecutors' offices. Working under the guidance of faculty and field supervisors, students acquire direct experience in fields including:

- Administration of Criminal Justice
- Employment Relations
- Environmental Law
- Federal Taxation
- Judicial Externships

- Public Interest Law

TRIAL ADVOCACY AND MOOT COURT

The UC Davis School of Law's Moot Court and Appellate Advocacy programs are an important part of the King Hall experience, and virtually all students participate. They are also a special source of pride among the King Hall community, as the UC Davis teams consistently have excelled in competitions around the country. In 2009, the team from King Hall bested law students from across the globe to claim victory in the International Negotiation Competition.

The Moot Court and Appellate Advocacy programs include numerous competitions and tournaments. Such programs not only are important to a student's legal education, but showcase the academic excellence of King Hall, contributing to the school's national reputation and the value of a UC Davis J.D.

STUDY ABROAD

We live in a global age. The smaller the world becomes, the more important it is for lawyers to have a global perspective. If you want to enhance your knowledge of the world through firsthand experiences by studying abroad, take advantage of the exciting opportunities presented by the UC Davis School of Law Foreign Exchange Program.

The School of Law offers exchange opportunities at the China University of Political Science and Law, University College Dublin (Ireland), and University of Copenhagen (Denmark), and is currently considering exchange programs with several other law schools in foreign countries.

Homer G. and Ann Berryhill Angelo Professor of Law Floyd Feeney is a nationally recognized expert on criminal law and procedure. A former clerk for the U.S. Supreme Court, Feeney is a two-time recipient of the Law School's Distinguished Teaching Award.

AREAS OF CONCENTRATION

BUSINESS LAW

As globalization of the world economy continues, business is increasingly international in scope. With courses in conflict of laws, comparative law, international business transactions, international tax, and international intellectual property, the UC Davis Business Law curriculum ensures graduates have the skills required to succeed in this rapidly changing environment. King Hall students also enjoy the unique opportunity to pursue a joint degree with the highly esteemed UC Davis Graduate School of Management.

UC Davis law graduates with a Business Law concentration work in law firms, corporations, consulting and accounting companies, and nonprofit organizations throughout the world, practicing in areas of banking, bankruptcy, corporate law, corporate securities, finance, health care, intellectual property, mergers and acquisitions, municipal bonds, public offerings, real estate, secured transactions, tax law, trusts and estates, and more.

CRIMINAL LAW AND PROCEDURE

UC Davis School of Law students who focus on Criminal Law and Procedure graduate with academic training and practical skills necessary to succeed as prosecutors, district attorneys, public defenders, criminal defense attorneys, and in related fields. King Hall's extensive externship programs offer the opportunity for direct experience, which may include prosecuting minor crimes under a district attorney's supervision.

UC Davis law alumni are found in district attorney and public defender offices throughout California and the nation. They hold prominent positions in all criminal law practice areas, both trial and appellate, with the California Attorney General's office—the largest single employer of UC Davis School of Law graduates—as well as the U.S. Attorneys' offices, and in well-regarded private criminal defense practices. Other practitioners are heads of criminal justice organizations, work in the military justice system, and have international criminal law practices. Criminal law practice is the leading path to the judiciary, and King Hall boasts an impressive number of alumni on the bench.

ENVIRONMENTAL AND NATURAL RESOURCES LAW

UC Davis is famous for environmental education, and King Hall students who choose the Environmental and Natural Resources Law concentration receive an exceptional environmental legal education. The curriculum is designed to prepare graduates for professional practice in a variety of environmental law settings, from litigation to transactions to policymaking. Many Environmental and Natural Resources Law students take advantage of the opportunity for joint studies with other departments at UC Davis, one of the nation's leading life-science research universities. Our Environmental Law Certificate Program provides special recognition for students' commitment to the study of environmental law.

King Hall students participate in environmental moot court and negotiation competitions, and gain invaluable firsthand experience through environmental and natural resources law externships in government, public interest organizations, and private firms, where they face the challenges of real-life environmental problems such as remediating hazardous waste releases, allocating California's limited water resources, siting factory farms and other land use issues, and dealing with climate change.

WHY CHOOSE UC DAVIS SCHOOL OF LAW?

“I chose UC Davis School of Law because everyone familiar with it had only the greatest praise for it—specifically the outstanding faculty and collegial atmosphere. I had been out of school for several years, and had no desire to suffer through three years of law school. UC Davis School of Law was a perfect fit for me.”

HEALTH LAW AND BIOETHICS

Advances in medical care and the life sciences are changing our lives, our society, and our world, and attorneys who specialize in health care law are increasingly in demand. The Health Care Law and Bioethics concentration provides the opportunity to study three core areas — health care law, bioethics, and public health law.

Students are prepared for a diverse range of careers in areas such as medical liability, health law, bioethics, public health, reproductive health, biotechnology, and disability rights. The concentration also offers training in contract law, medical malpractice, administrative law, public health law, consent, elder law, human rights, and civil rights. In addition, King Hall students learn to address the ethical questions associated with biotechnology, reproductive technologies, and other medical advances.

HUMAN RIGHTS AND SOCIAL JUSTICE LAW

UC Davis School of Law has a commitment to human rights and social justice stretching back to its beginning more than 40 years ago, when the Law School building was dedicated to Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Throughout its existence, King Hall has been known for producing outstanding public interest law attorneys dedicated to serving Dr. King's ideals through work with nonprofits and government agencies serving society's most needy, addressing social inequalities, and devoted to using the power of law to achieve a more just society.

The Human Rights and Social Justice Law concentration offers students the opportunity to study with UC Davis faculty at the forefront of their fields in immigration law, family law and sexual preference issues, the constitutional rights of prisoners, and more. Through its award-winning clinics and externships, the Law School offers students not only a classroom education that is second to none, but also opportunities to help real clients with problems of domestic violence, immigration issues, civil rights violations, and other legal problems.

INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY LAW

In the digital age, many of the world's business transactions involve not physical assets but intellectual property—copyrights, patents, trademarks, and trade secrets—and the creation, maintenance, protection, and transfer of intellectual property are increasingly important in the global economy. The result has been that intellectual property law has become one of the fastest-growing and most exciting fields of legal practice.

UC Davis School of Law's Intellectual Property Law curriculum prepares students for this new world through a specialized area of concentration devoted to the law of ideas, inventions, and other intangible forms of property. Students learn everything from the basics—copyright, patent, and trademark—to emerging fields, such as international intellectual property, e-commerce, and cyber law. With a faculty that includes scholars on the leading edge of this emerging field, UC Davis School of Law has established itself as a pioneer, setting the standard in intellectual property studies.

ON THE LEADING EDGE OF CURRENT ISSUES

Legendary Silicon Valley venture capitalist John Doerr makes a keynote address at King Hall.

The Law School regularly hosts prominent speakers to help ensure King Hall students hear a variety of perspectives on current legal issues. Lectures and symposia help keep King Hall at the leading edge of legal education.

The 2010 Brigitte M. Bodenheimer Lecture on Family Law brought California Supreme Court Justice Carlos Moreno to King Hall to discuss same-sex marriage and Proposition 8. Judge Stephen R. Reinhardt of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit argued for a “living Constitution” in the 2010 Edward L. Barrett, Jr. Lecture on Constitutional Law. Fall 2010 brings the inaugural Central Valley Foundation/McClatchy Lecture on the First Amendment, to be delivered by Stanford Law School's Pamela S. Karlan.

Over the years, many distinguished speakers have visited King Hall for the intellectual property symposium and lecture series, “Law in the Information Age.” Additionally, the law firm Fenwick & West sponsors a lecture series at King Hall called “Technology, Entrepreneurship, Science, and the Law” (TESLaw). The 2009 TESLaw symposium drew hundreds of attorneys, academic experts, students, alumni, and professionals to the Law School to hear industry leaders including legendary Silicon Valley venture capitalist John Doerr.

The Honorable Fatou Bensouda, Deputy Prosecutor of the International Criminal Court, delivers a guest lecture at King Hall.

THE CALIFORNIA INTERNATIONAL LAW CENTER AT KING HALL (CILC)

UC Davis School of Law has a proud tradition of engagement in matters of global consequence. Continuing that tradition is the California International Law Center at King Hall. CILC (pronounced “silk”) fosters the work of faculty, students, and alumni in international, comparative, and transnational law.

CILC hosts and co-sponsors events throughout the year, bringing international legal issues to the fore at King Hall. Among other prominent advocates and scholars, CILC has hosted Fatou Bensouda, Deputy Prosecutor of the International Criminal Court, who delivered an International Women’s Day Address on gender violence and international law. CILC has also dedicated research to the war torn Darfur region of Sudan, working in partnership with the Washington, D.C.-based Robert F. Kennedy Center for Justice and Human Rights to construct a peace and reconciliation plan for the area.

CILC’s Director, Fellow, and Faculty Council publish on topics as varied as cross-border crime and comparative civil rights, food security and global finance, international trade, and immigration detention. They give expert advice and take part in conferences on many continents. And they prepare students for careers in the 21st century world.

INTERNATIONAL LAW

The International Law concentration has long been one of the hallmarks of UC Davis School of Law, and the California International Law Center at King Hall (CILC) takes our program to an even higher level. Academic courses advance students’ understanding of world affairs through analysis of international law, politics, and business. A diverse team of full-time faculty and visiting scholars from around the globe teach in the International Law program, giving students a wide range of elective courses and the advantage of learning from interdisciplinary scholars who are among the leading international legal minds in the world.

Students interested in international law enjoy opportunities to participate in special projects through CILC and the Law School’s clinics, which provide firsthand experiences in an actual legal setting with client interactions, writing, research, and advocacy skills essential to the practice. Students may gain writing and editing experience with the UC Davis Journal of International Law & Policy, and attend lectures and symposia on international law.

PUBLIC INTEREST LAW

Since its beginnings more than 40 years ago, UC Davis School of Law has earned a reputation for being extraordinarily dedicated to the ideals of social justice and public service espoused by Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., for whom the Law School building is named. As a result, King Hall has always attracted faculty and students committed to using the power of legal education and the law to address injustices and solve problems faced by the poor, the disabled, consumers, the elderly, and those who lack equal access to the legal system. The Public Interest Law concentration prepares students to tackle the pressing social issues of our time and to work in public interest and public sector careers where their knowledge, skills, and experience can have maximum impact for individuals and society at large.

Most students in the Public Interest Law concentration take advantage of opportunities to work in the Law School’s clinical programs, helping immigrants, prisoners, victims of domestic violence, and others while gaining invaluable, real-world experience. The Law School offers a Public Service Law Certificate Program for students with a demonstrated commitment to serving the public. After graduation, UC Davis School of Law's support for public interest work continues, offering alumni financial assistance through the recently expanded Loan Repayment Assistance Program (LRAP). Unlike many similar programs, our LRAP offers repayment assistance for not only law school debt but also loans received for undergraduate and other graduate-level study, and students can choose whether to participate in the Income-Based Repayment (IBR) plan.

See page 14 for more on our clinical programs. See page 37 for more on the Loan Repayment Assistance Program.

“It has been said that ‘the law is the cement of society and an essential medium of change.’ In a just society, the law maintains order but also protects human rights and promotes social justice. It must both elevate the dignity of each individual and ensure fairness in the economics and educational institutions that are instrumental to social opportunity.”

The office hosts numerous events where students can connect with potential employers, including an extensive On-Campus Interview (OCI) program held each fall and spring.

The overwhelming majority of UC Davis Law students are employed at graduation, and virtually all students are employed nine months after graduation.

RESOURCES FOR LAW STUDENTS

King Hall has just undergone a major expansion and revision, rendering it one of the most beautiful and functional facilities in the country. It has two moot courtrooms, a pretrial-skills laboratory, a large computer lab, study carrels, student journal offices, lounges, infant care co-op, and offices for student organizations, all easily accessible to disabled students. Classrooms have state-of-the-art audiovisual and multimedia equipment. Wireless Internet access is available throughout the building.

The Mabie Law Library was founded with the UC Davis School of Law in 1966. The library is the center for study and legal research for the Law School community, and students have access to numerous legal print resources and many online databases via the library and California Digital Library. The library is a federal and California document depository.

The Law School has a strong commitment to technology and providing technological resources and support for law students. Unique to UC Davis, the Law School offers a generous free printing allowance to each student. In addition, law students receive free licenses to popular Microsoft products such as MS Office and Windows operating system.

These services are coupled with a dynamic intranet, which provides students with timely announcements, Law School news and events, individual server space, shared space for collaborative work, and the ability to create personal working and social groups. Each student has a unique login and password, along with a personal network drive that is backed up daily.

Consistent with the open, community-oriented environment, law students receive keys to the building, enabling 24-hour access to the Mabie Law Library, and are given online access to past law school exams.

This is a place where all students, faculty, and staff take pride in a strong sense of community and encourage a supportive academic environment.

WHY CHOOSE UC DAVIS SCHOOL OF LAW?

“ Besides preparing us to hit the ground running as lawyers, King Hall embeds its students with a strong sense of collegiality, community, and respect for and service to others. This makes for both a unique law school experience and a great approach to a fulfilling career practicing law. ”

DAVIS, CALIFORNIA

A VIBRANT COLLEGE TOWN

Davis is a truly vibrant college town whose charm is enhanced by over 100 miles of bicycle paths. The city has a centralized downtown which offers shops, entertainment, and social activities. With a population of 62,000, the city has a reputation for controlled growth, environmental awareness, energy conservation, excellent schools, and exceptional parks and recreational programs.

CONVENIENTLY LOCATED

Davis is located only 15 minutes from Sacramento, the capital of California, and about an hour from the Berkeley-Oakland-San Francisco Bay Area. This proximity gives Davis access to large metropolitan cities with thriving business, financial, and legal communities and a range of social and recreational activities. The region's mild, temperate climate means students have the chance to enjoy themselves outdoors all year long. Whether you participate in organized sports or cycling with a few friends is more your speed, Davis' plentiful parks and open spaces mean you'll always have plenty of room to roam. Challenging ski slopes are just a short drive away, and nearby lakes and rivers provide great opportunities for kayaking, waterskiing, and more.

ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT

Coffeehouses, restaurants, and dance clubs give you the chance to enjoy the nightlife in downtown Davis. Whether you prefer the grand experience of the Robert and Margrit Mondavi Center for the Performing Arts or the more intimate setting of the Palms Playhouse in nearby Winters, you'll have the chance to hear great live music without making a long drive.

FACULTY

UC Davis School of Law is proud that its distinguished and diverse faculty is second to none. King Hall has among the highest proportion of American Law Institute (ALI) members on its faculty of any law school in the United States, and their membership in this prestigious law reform organization is only one indicator of the UC Davis Law faculty's involvement in cutting-edge legal research and the most pressing legal and social issues of our times. UC Davis Law faculty have published thousands of leading books and articles by the most influential presses and law reviews in the world. The scholarship of faculty members is cited regularly in leading legal and interdisciplinary scholarship. Not surprisingly, members of the faculty frequently testify before Congress and other legislative bodies and are quoted frequently by the national media. Moreover, King Hall was ranked tenth in the nation for faculty diversity by Princeton Review.

HOW TO APPLY

DETAILED ADMISSIONS INFORMATION AT www.law.ucdavis.edu/admissions

REQUIREMENTS AND STANDARDS FOR ADMISSION TO THE SCHOOL OF LAW

A thorough and comprehensive review of the application file is one of the hallmarks of the UC Davis School of Law admission process. While the admission process is highly selective, it is by no means mechanical. The Admissions Committee seeks to admit and enroll exceptional students whose applications reflect outstanding academic performance combined with diverse backgrounds, experiences and intellectual interests.

With more than 4,000 applications submitted for the most recent entering class of 200, the Admissions Committee will be looking beyond the LSAT and GPA for special qualities in its applicants.

Applicants must evidence a record of sufficiently high caliber to qualify for the study of law. A bachelor's degree or an equivalent degree from a college or university of approved standing must have been earned prior to the time the applicant begins work in the School.

The Admissions Committee is seeking law students of demonstrated academic ability as evidenced by a variety of factors including the undergraduate grade point average (GPA), LSAT scores, any economic or other disadvantages overcome by the applicant, graduate studies, significant work experience and extracurricular activities.

Students who have been disqualified at another law school will not be admitted to UC Davis.

THE ADMISSIONS PROCESS IS PAPERLESS

UC Davis School of Law administers a completely paperless process. Electronic submission of all documents is required. The application for admission to the Juris Doctor degree program can be found at the Law School Admission Council (LSAC) web site. Fees can be paid with a credit card and the signature is electronic. No more postage or postmarks. Everything can be done using a computer. Monitor the progress of your application from processing through evaluation and enrollment at the UC Davis Status Check website.

If you have a disability that does not allow you to use the electronic application process, please contact the School of Law Admissions Office (admissions@law.ucdavis.edu), prior to the application deadline, to be provided with an accessible alternative. Early filing of all application materials is strongly recommended and will materially assist the School of Law Admissions Committee in its consideration of the application. Applications can be submitted until midnight Pacific Standard Time on February 1.

The School of Law Admissions Committee reviews all applications. Students are admitted only on a full-time basis and may enroll only in August. Applicants to UC Davis are able to view their status in the admission process online at the UC Davis School of Law website.

Any fraudulent practices relating to the admissions process will be considered grounds for disqualification by the Admissions Committee.

LAW SCHOOL ADMISSION TEST (LSAT)

All applicants are required to take the Law School Admission Test no later than December preceding the year in which admission is sought. It is recommended that the test be taken as early as possible. LSAT scores earned before September/October 2007 are not valid for Fall 2011 admission. February test scores are accepted only after a valid test score has been submitted.

LSAC CREDENTIAL ASSEMBLY SERVICE (CAS)

Applicants should register with the Credential Assembly Service no later than December preceding the year in which admission is sought by creating an online account at www.LSAC.org. All applicants, including those who have completed the bachelor's degree outside the United States (including its territories) or Canada, must submit transcripts to the LSAC Credential Assembly Service.

PERSONAL STATEMENT

To evaluate your application, the Admissions Committee has available only the information that you supply. Applicants are therefore asked to write a statement that adds further dimension to the quantitative predictors. The statement may discuss any of a variety of factors, including academic promise, background information, and any discrepancies in GPA and/or LSAT score; growth, maturity, and commitment to law study as evidenced, for example, by extracurricular activities, community service, employment experience and advanced study; severe economic disadvantage or physical disability; and other factors relating to diversity, including bilingual skills and unusual accomplishments, skills, or abilities relevant to the legal profession. It is highly recommended that the personal statement be limited to a total of three or four typewritten pages, double-spaced. This page limit includes additional essays or addenda submitted for consideration.

LETTERS OF RECOMMENDATION

Use of the LSAC Letter of Recommendation Service (LOR) is required.

The applicant must provide two letters of recommendation from responsible (and unrelated) persons who know the applicant well. At least one recommendation must come from a faculty member under whom the applicant has recently studied. Applicants not currently enrolled in an academic program may substitute references from employers if it is not possible to obtain an academic reference. The letters of recommendation should comment on the applicant's academic abilities, character and significant

Q. WHERE CAN I FIND THE APPLICATION FOR ADMISSION?

Follow a link posted at the UC Davis School of Law website to reach the electronic application or go directly to the LSAC website and follow their directions to the UC Davis School of Law application for admission.

Q. ARE FEE WAIVERS AVAILABLE?

Applicants seeking waiver of the application fee should apply for the LSAC fee waiver. If granted, that waiver will be honored by UC Davis School of Law. If you do not meet the LSAC fee waiver eligibility requirements, you must submit the $75 non-refundable application fee.

Q. WHAT IS THE APPLICATION DEADLINE?

Applications must be submitted no later than midnight Pacific Standard Time, on February 1 of the year in which admission is sought. The electronic application will be deactivated at midnight and no additional applications will be transmitted.

accomplishments, including extracurricular activities, community involvement and prior work experience. If the applicant chooses to do so, LSAC evaluation forms may be submitted with the required recommendations.

The Admissions Committee will not consider an application before letters have been received.

TRANSCRIPTS

Applicants should submit directly to the Credential Assembly Service supplementary transcripts covering fall work as soon as the transcripts are available. Failure to do so may delay consideration of application materials. Successful applicants will be required to submit directly to the School of Law a final transcript showing the award of a bachelor's degree and any graduate degrees earned.

COMBINED DEGREE PROGRAMS

Combined Degree Programs are available in conjunction with the UC Davis Graduate School of Management and most of the master's degree programs offered through the UC Davis Office of Graduate Studies. Separate applications are required by each department because evaluation and decision processes are performed independently.

If admitted to both programs, the applicant must enroll at the School of Law for the first year. Contact the appropriate department for additional information.

REAPPLICATION

Applicants who reapply for admission must comply with all of the above procedures. The LSAT does not need to be repeated (unless the score was earned before September/October 2007 and therefore is not valid), but a current 2010-2011 Credential Assembly Service report must be provided in addition to the application and the $75 nonrefundable fee. Letters of recommendation on file as part of a previously completed application need not be duplicated. An addendum to the previously submitted personal statement is strongly advised.

COMMITMENT TO DIVERSITY

The students and faculty of the UC Davis School of Law recognize the desperate need for lawyers representing the diverse populations of California. Although a legal career is not the only way to address the effects of racism, poverty, and the myriad social, political, and economic problems that continue to affect this country, it is one way to work for change.

Experience or background that enables an applicant to bring a unique perspective to the study of law or contribute to serving the diverse populations of California may be taken into account in the admission process. Because it promotes learning, an important goal of the admission process is a student body with a diversity of backgrounds, interest, and skills. The personal statement may be used to provide such information.

INTERNATIONAL APPLICANTS

Applicants who have completed the bachelor's degree outside the United States (including its territories) or Canada must submit transcripts to the LSAC Credential Assembly Service (CAS). A Foreign Credential Evaluation will be completed and submitted to the Law School as part of the CAS report. A TOEFL score is required of all applicants educated outside the U.S. and for whom English was not the primary language of instruction. Contact the Educational Testing Service (ETS) and request that your TOEFL score be sent to LSAC. LSAC's TOEFL code for CAS is 0058.

Your score will be included in the Foreign Credential Evaluation document as part of your Law School report.

VISAS

If a Certificate of Eligibility is required for a student visa issued by UC Davis, a Certificate of Finances form showing the availability of sufficient funding for your legal education must be submitted upon admission.

FINANCING LAW SCHOOL

No application fee waivers, grants, loans, fellowships, scholarships, or work-study awards are available to international students during their enrollment at UC Davis.

TRANSFERS

Applicants who have completed at least one full-time year of work in another American Bar Association-approved law school may, in exceptional cases, be admitted to advanced standing with credit for not more than one year of such work. Registration with the Credential Assembly Service is required. Required documents include application for admission, letter of good standing from the dean of any law school previously attended (including class rank), one letter of recommendation from a law professor, complete transcript of all law school work, LSAT score (registration with LSAC CAS required), official undergraduate transcript with degree posted, $75 nonrefundable application fee, and a personal statement.

The filing period for transfer applications is June 1 – 30 of the year for which transfer is sought. Students who have been disqualified at another law school will not be admitted to UC Davis.

CALIFORNIA RESIDENCY

The Law School admissions process does not take residency into consideration, although tuition and fees are based on residency. Detailed information about residency is provided at both the Law School and the university web sites, or at <http://registrar.ucdavis.edu/ucdWebCatalog/appendix/residency.html>. Specific questions about residency should be directed to the UC Davis Residency Deputy.

UC Davis School of Law remains a relative bargain among elite law schools, thanks in part to comparatively low costs for housing, transportation, and other living expenses. This table shows average costs for a first-year law student living off campus during the nine months King Hall is in session. Actual living expenses may vary considerably. Please note that non-California residents pay an additional $12,245 in tuition (questions regarding residency status can be directed to registrar@law.ucdavis.edu).

The costs outlined to the left are estimates for a single student. If you are married, a single parent, or have other special circumstances, please inform the Financial Aid Office in writing.

King Hall also offers a Registration Fee Deferred Payment Plan (RFDPP) to allow students the opportunity to extend payment of fees and tuition. The RFDPP, which requires a $37.50 application fee per semester, is open to all students regardless of whether or not they qualify for financial aid.

For more information, visit Student Accounting or call 530.752.3646.

Financing your King Hall education is an investment in your future, and the UC Davis School of Law Financial Aid Office is committed to help. King Hall offers deferred payment plans and a newly expanded Loan Repayment Assistance Program for graduates working in public interest law. Approximately 90 percent of all King Hall students take advantage of some form of financial aid.

APPLYING FOR AID

If you're ready to join us at King Hall, we're ready to help you find the financial aid you need. Please complete and submit the application materials listed below as early as possible. Financial aid funding is limited and aid will be offered according to eligibility and date of application. Late applicants will not be considered for grants or Federal Perkins loan funding.

For more details about the types of aid available at the UC Davis School of Law, see Types of Assistance on page 38 or on our website at www.law.ucdavis.edu/prospective/financial-aid.

HOW TO APPLY

1. Apply early! Do not wait for an admission decision to apply for Financial Aid. Apply online at www.law.ucdavis.edu/prospective/financial-aid or via mail at your earliest opportunity.

2. Complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) by March 2.
3. List UC Davis School of Law code 001313 and a housing code on the FAFSA.
4. After filing online, be sure to make a note of confirmation stamp number for future reference.
5. Complete the Need Access Application by March 2.
6. Answer all questions on the FAFSA and Need Access Application. If you have not completed your federal tax return, estimate as accurately as possible using your prior year federal tax return.
7. Keep copies of your completed tax returns and W-2s.
8. Please do not send in your Federal Student Aid Report or income tax forms unless the UC Davis Financial Aid Office requests them.
9. Providing accurate data when applying for financial aid is essential. All information is subject to verification according to state and federal regulations. Failure to provide parental information on the Need Access Application will reduce eligibility for institutional aid, including grants. False statements or misrepresentation will be cause for denial, reduction, cancellation and/or repayment of financial aid received.

WHAT HAPPENS NEXT

1. If you apply online and provide an e-mail address, the Federal Processor will send you an e-mail when your FAFSA is received and direct you to a website to view your Student Aid Report (SAR).
2. If you file a paper FAFSA (or don't provide an e-mail address), within four weeks the Federal Processor will send you a Student Aid Report (SAR) with your Expected Family Contribution (EFC) shown in the top-right corner. The Financial Aid Office will use the EFC to determine your eligibility for aid. If there is no EFC number on your SAR, see the "You (the student), step 2" portion of the SAR for instructions. If the processor has selected your application for verification, the SAR will note that "You will be asked by your school(s) to provide copies of certain financial documents."
3. UC Davis Financial Aid award information for law students will be available online beginning April 1, 2011.

AWARDS RENEWAL

As a student, you'll need to reapply for financial aid each academic year. There is no assurance that aid will be awarded in the same kinds and amounts from year to year, so it is important to inquire early regarding actions required to continue receiving assistance. If our funding levels permit and if your own personal resources do not change, aid usually continues at the same level each year.

FINANCIAL AID FOR INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS

International students are not eligible for financial aid. It is highly recommended that funding for the entire period of study be arranged before law studies begin. Alternative loans are available to international students; however, most lenders require that an international student enlist a U.S. citizen or permanent resident to co-sign on the loan.

FEE PAYMENT

Fees are to be paid the first day of Intro Week. Financial Aid will provide direct payment of fees from grant and some loan awards.

SATISFACTORY ACADEMIC PROGRESS

Students receiving any form of financial aid must adhere to the standards for satisfactory academic progress as set forth in the Academic Regulations of the School of Law.

LOAN REPAYMENT ASSISTANCE PROGRAM

UC Davis School of Law has a proud tradition of training outstanding public service law practitioners and supporting graduates who work in public service positions. The King Hall Loan Repayment Assistance Program (LRAP) is one way the School of Law ensures that today's students, our future graduates, have the financial means to continue to act on the ideals of the profession – citizenship and service to the community.

The LRAP, the first program of its kind at any California law school, provides recent graduates entering public interest law employment with assistance in repaying educational loans. Unlike many similar programs, our LRAP offers repayment assistance for not only law school debt but also loans received for undergraduate and other graduate-level study, and students can choose whether to participate in the Income-Based Repayment (IBR) plan.

Recently, the Law School expanded the LRAP to offer more loan repayment assistance to more King Hall graduates. Beginning in 2009, LRAP raised the salary cap for participants from $53,000 to $60,000 annually, lessened the time they must work before loans can be forgiven from five years to one, and moved to allow participants earning less than $40,000 per year to have full repayment assistance with no personal contribution.

If your dream position is advocating for the rights of those who lack equal access to the legal system, serving as a public defender or prosecutor, or working for a nonprofit conservation program, the LRAP can provide loan payment relief.

EMPLOYMENT

Your legal education will need to be your first priority during your time at King Hall, so we recommend that reliance on part-time employment should never be more than incidental. Even incidental part-time employment is discouraged for first-year students. In no event may any student undertake outside employment in excess of 20 hours a week and outside employment must not interfere with the full-time program of professional study.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE

SCHOLARSHIPS

UC Davis School of Law offers more than two dozen privately funded scholarships and can help facilitate access to scholarships from the UC Office of the President and other external agencies. As part of our commitment to the legacy of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., the Law School has established two $20,000 scholarships, which are awarded to recipients who best exemplify the spirit of Dr. King's efforts to achieve social and political justice through lawful and orderly means. Scholarship applications become available November 1, 2011. The application deadline is February 1, 2012. Applications should be submitted to the Law School Financial Aid Office. For more information, including how to apply, please visit <http://www.law.ucdavis.edu/current/financial-aid/general-scholarship-information.html>.

EXTERNAL AGENCIES

The UC Davis School of Law Office of Financial Aid can help connect you to a variety of external agencies that are potential sources of scholarships, fellowships, and prizes. There are civic organizations, bar associations, and other groups that provide scholarships, and we can help find those that are most appropriate for you.

GRANTS

Grant funds available at UC Davis School of Law include Law School Grant and State UC Grant. Grants do not

Full-time enrollment for grant funding is 10 units per semester. Students taking fewer than 10 units may be billed for aid received.

FEDERAL PERKINS LOAN

The Federal Perkins Loan is a federal loan borrowed through the university based on financial need with a fixed interest rate. While you are enrolled at King Hall, the government will pay the interest for you. Repayment begins nine months after graduation, participation in the Planned Education Leave Program (PELP), or withdrawal from school. You may receive multiple Perkins Loans under one Master Promissory Note while you are enrolled at UC Davis.

WILLIAM D. FORD DIRECT LOAN INFORMATION

Federal Direct (Subsidized) Loans: These loans are based on financial need and have a fixed interest rate, with interest paid by the federal government while the student is enrolled at least half time. Repayment begins six months after graduation, participation in the Planned Education Leave Program (PELP), or withdrawal from school.

FEDERAL DIRECT (UNSUBSIDIZED) LOANS

The interest rate is fixed and is charged beginning the day the loan is disbursed until the loan is repaid in full. You may pay the interest while you are in school, during the grace period, or during deferment, or you may capitalize the interest (by adding it to the total principal of the loan when you graduate).

GRADUATE PLUS & ALTERNATIVE LOANS (PRIVATE EDUCATIONAL LOANS)

Students who need to borrow funds beyond the federal subsidized, unsubsidized, and Perkins loan limits will be able to choose between the federal Graduate PLUS (Grad PLUS) Loan and an Alternative Loan (private educational loan). The Grad PLUS Loan will have a fixed interest rate and all of the federal student loan benefits during the life of the loan. Because UC Davis is a Direct Loan Institution for federal student loans, King Hall students may also pursue a Grad PLUS Loan provided by the William D. Ford Direct Loan Program. The Direct Grad PLUS being offered at UC Davis has a fixed interest rate and no annual or aggregate borrowing limits (other than cost of attendance less other financial aid received). While a credit check is required to qualify for the Grad PLUS, the credit criteria is less strict than those associated with private student loans.

For more information about Alternative Loans, visit financialaid.ucdavis.edu/graduate/types/lenderlists.html.

Note: Financial aid is subject to change in federal, state, and institutional policies without prior notice.
